President's Message

B y G a r y F l a n a g a n

Well, I'm back from La Paz, feeling badly that I missed my first general meeting as the new president of Granite Bay Flycasters (but I figured that fishing Baja was a good enough excuse to use and knew that Art "Numbers" Hawkins could hold down the fort).

With the great presentation by Mike Wier of Tahoe Flyfishing Outfitters and the rest of the GBF team, I was positive that I wouldn't be missed. One of the benefits of surrounding yourself with good people is that operations continue with or without you being there.

In accordance with GBF, being

A SCHOOL OF NEEDLE FISH CAME FLYING OUT OF THE WATER, SCARED TO DEATH AND FLEEING FOR THEIR LIVES

a club devoted to fly-fishing, I felt it was reasonable to be off fishing. After all, it wasn't like I had to attend my own funeral or any other lame excuse like that.

So braving the heat, humidity, saltwater, cervasa and Tequila Shooters, always upholding the good name of GBFC, with Ron, Jeanne and Nick English.

The Sardina weren't abundant so flyfishing was kind of tough. We did manage to land Pargo, Bonito, Skipjack, Triggerfish, Dorado, Trumpetfish, Needlefish, Jack Crevalle, Ladyfish, assorted Rockfish, Mackerel and Pompano on flies. Nevertheless, we were drooling for big fish. I only had two problems. First, my biggest rod was an eleven weight with only thirty pound backing. Secondly, the fish weren't aggressively on the bite.

So I reluctantly slipped over to the dark side. The Panga Captain had brought along a short and ugly casting rod with about three hundred yards of seventy pound monofilament line. You know, the kind of stuff you get your fly line tangled up with on the Feather and American Rivers during Salmon season, the reason you swear under your breath about Fish and Game banning conventional tackle and cursing the people that fish that way.

There we sat, watching two live mackerel bouncing along behind the boat as our motor droned endlessly, lulling Nick and I into a listless stupor resembling an acute form of retardation. About the time I was positive that the fish gods were going to punish me by never again allowing me to hook a fish, a school of Needle Fish came flying out of the water, scared to death and fleeing for their lives in holy terror.

Before I could come to grips with this phenomenon my rod tip slammed down hard and a beautiful Striped Marlin exploded into the air behind the boat. After a dozen leaps, twirls, spins and some aerial flips the great fish sounded for the topaz depths of the Sea of Cortez.

“Soft Hackle Pheasant tail”

Here is an interesting variation on the old standby, the Pheasant Tail Nymph. There can be no question that the “PT,” as that marvelous bug is called, is a fish-catcher...assuming it is fished properly. I can attest to that based on experience as recent as July 18th, when a #14 plain (i.e., no bead) PT accounted for a nice large Rainbow on the Upper Sacramento. Adding the soft hackle does not necessarily “improve” on the PT pattern; rather, it adds a different dimension to it by creating the illusion of an emerging mayfly. What can be better than swinging a soft hackle fly that looks like a highly successful fly box standard like the PT? It works well with short-line techniques also.

I N S T R U C T I O N S

1. Place hook in vise and smash barb. Add a few turns of lead at thorax area, if desired. Cover hook shank with thread.
2. At the point just above the back end of the barb, attach 4 or 5 PT center tail feather fibers for a tail (length approximately equal to hook shank); don't trim the butts yet..
3. At the same point, attach a piece of fine copper wire for the ribbing.
4. Wrap the remaining PT fibers forward to cover the back 2/3 of the shank, forming the abdomen. Wrap the copper wire forward in evenly spaced wraps.

5. At the forward end of the abdomen, tie in 5 or 6 PT fibers by their tips, with the butts facing to the rear. These will ultimately form the wing case.

6. At the same point, tie in two or three peacock herls by their tips, and twist them together with your hackle pliers. Be gentle—they tend to break otherwise.

7. Wrap the herl as a thorax and tie off, leaving room at the front to tie in the wing case, and wrap the soft hackle.

8. Bring the PT fibers over the top of the herl, and tie them off behind the eye, leaving sufficient room for the soft hackle.

9. Tie in and sparsely wrap the soft hackle, “wet fly” style. Tie it off, form a nice smooth, small thread head, and whip finish. Now, go fish it, and...

See ya on the creek!!!

MATERIALS

Hook: Standard nymph hook such as Tiemco 3761BL; Daiichi 1560; or Mustad 3906B #12-20

Thread: Brown 6/0 or 8/0 Tail: PT center tail feather fibers

Body: PT center tail feather fibers

Rib: Fine copper wire

Wing case: PT center tail feather fibers

Weight: (optional) lead or substitute

Thorax: Peacock herl

Hackle: Brown soft hackle such as hen

Head: Brown thread

Crowley Lake Sept. 25-28

It's hard to believe, but it's time to start thinking about the annual Crowley Lake Fish Out. Crowley is a magical destination that makes me feel like I have traveled to an exotic venue. A small traverse over the mighty Sierra Nevada Mountains gives me the perception that I am a million miles away from the Sacramento Valley and far away from all of my perceived troubles and woes.

Crowley fishes extremely well this time of year. California Fish and Game Regulations have changed the lake to catch-and-release; single barbless hooks and for the most part, this trophy lake is pretty much left to us flyfishers. It's nice not to have to contend with hundreds of powerboats thrashing the water.

The last three years have produced for us fish on the average of between sixteen and eighteen inches. Fish in excess of twenty inches were caught and there is always that twenty-pound German Brown lurking around the corner! It is not uncommon to average over ten fish for a morning of fishing!

We will be staying at Convict Lake, which is only a few miles from Crowley. Convict has a great campground and cabins are available at the lodge. For more information check out www.convictlake.com. Cabins fill quickly so make your reservation now.

I will provide more detailed information in the September issue of the Leader.

For more information on fishing Crowley Lake, e-mail me at: flanagan@surewest.net.

Burney Falls area Oct. 3 – 5

Yeah, I know, we're in the dog days of summer and some of our N. California Rivers and Lakes are fishing great. But, as the cool nights of Fall come, the fish will be looking up at flies a little more.

One of our state's treasures is Burney Falls St. Park, a special place for me. I'll never forget my first visit there, seeing the falls, my first Salmon Fly hatch, and catching beautiful wild trout.

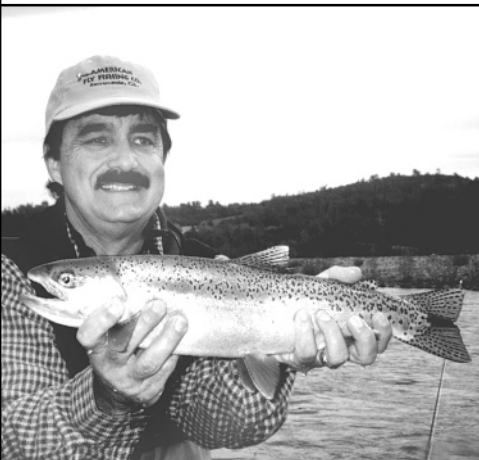

The reasons I'm excited about this Fish Out are the superb fishing and beautiful surroundings. Large Rainbows and Browns are typically caught in October. Some of the hatches include October Caddis, a multitude of other Caddis, midges,

Salmon Festival Oct. fly tyers needed

The Salmon Festival is approaching fast: this year's dates are Oct. 11-12 (at Lake Natoma, as usual). This change to the second weekend in Oct is supposed to be permanent, so mark your 2004 calendars too!

In years past, I have asked the Sacramento fly fishing club for help showing kids who attend the festival how to tie flies.

Unfortunately, they haven't always been able to supply reliable volunteers. So this year I'm asking GBF members to step up and make this a GBF-exclusive event!

This year we'll be located next to the lake with the rest of the kids' exhibits, so we should be busier than last year. We expect to have over 700 kids! We will need a minimum of 12 tyers to give us 2 shifts, for Sat. & Sun., making a total of 48 spots (shifts) that need filling. My sons and I will cover 10 of these spots, but I need 38 more firm/confirmed sign-ups.

You do not need to know how to tie flies to help at this event. Last year Karl & Jessica Wolff came about 15 minutes early and learned all they needed to know in just those few minutes. I would like to especially see some of the new members volunteer as it is a great event and a good time to meet other clubmembers. Besides helping the kids, this is a really fun event.

Look for the sign-up sheet at the next 3 club meetings.

Heenan Lake structure complete

THANK YOU to all the workers from GBF and the High Sierra Fly Casters who helped Saturday, July 26 at Heenan Lake. It was hard work but the display structure and the parking lot look terrific. The educational material will be posted prior to opening day of Heenan's season.

We are trying to arrange a christening/acceptance of the structure by a California DFG representative on opening day.

The season begins at sunrise Friday, August 29. Hope to see you there.

Website: new look, new tools

For those that may not know, Granite Bay Flycasters has a website. While it has been dormant for some time, like a volcano, it has awoken and is erupting, and it is going to be huge.

Let me explain: the website is going to be a place for:

☞ Finding out about important announcements (like Martis Lake)

☞ Viewing The Leader before it arrives in your mailbox

☞ Previewing next month's fly tying contest fly with color pictures

☞ Instructions. In addition, all past month patterns will be available

☞ Viewing a complete list of scheduled Fish Outs

☞ Getting a complete 12 month calendar for all known club activities; plus other important dates.

☞ Getting the names and contact information for GBF Officers and Board

☞ Providing other members with write-ups about fishouts and pictures. This might also include providing additional information about a fishout that cannot be communicated at the monthly meeting

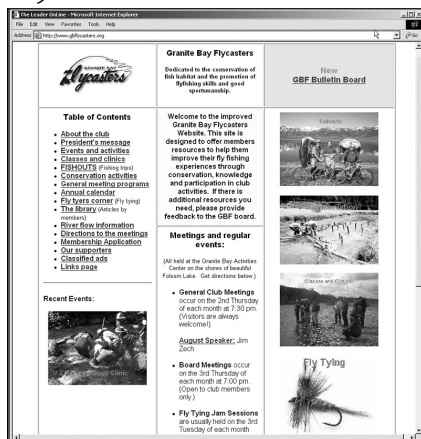

☞ Finding out how and submitting articles to The Leader

☞ And the newest addition: Granite Bay Flycasters Message Board—the newest thing to hit the website. This Message Board will be used for all of the following:

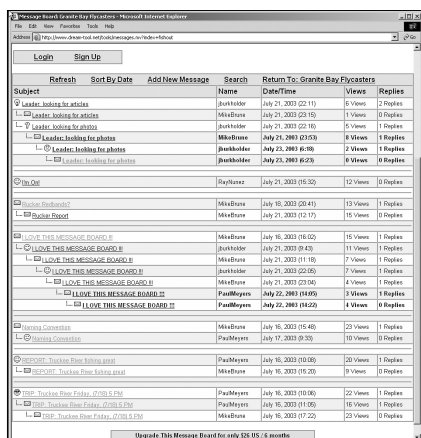

- Fishing reports
- Organize and schedule fishing trips.
- Ask questions and get answers

So, like a volcano, the website is approaching the sky by getting bigger.

Please take the time to visit the

New and improved gbflycasters.org

The newly added Message Board makes communications between members easy and instant. Messages categorized by topics and threads of conversations are viewable by all. Planning a trip? Looking for a partner? Tips on the hot spot? Here is the place to go.

site and participate on the Message Board. Hoping you'll hookup to www.gbflycaster.org.

Local guide shares: hot spots, advice

Dave Shafer will be our guest speaker at the August club meeting.

Dave, a licensed guide, instructor, and staff expert at American Fly Fishing Co. His ample qualifications as one of Sacramento's leading fly fishing authorities makes this presentation well worth attending.

SPEAKER:

DAVE SHAFER

AMERICAN FLY FISHING CO.

Dave's been guiding and teaching fly fishing for eight years now, and his easy-going style makes him popular with novice and advanced flyfishers alike. Dave's also a member of the Ross Reels Pro Staff, and is a contracted, professional fly tier for the Targus Fly Company. In fact—his own Dave's client, Christa Fay, lands a Rainbow.

'Shafer's 3D Nymph' pattern is proving to be a very popular and productive pattern!

As a long-time guide on waters such as the Upper & Lower Sac, the McCloud, the Pit, Putah Creek, and the American, Yuba, and Truckee Rivers, Dave's presentation at the August meeting—which will focus on his experience with the Upper Sac, McCloud, and Pit Rivers—is sure to be informative. And because Dave's also an expert on our local Shad and Steelhead fisheries, be sure to bring your questions on those subjects to the meeting as well.

Don't miss this chance to pick the brain of one of our own sure-to-be local legends!

Where: GBF Clubhouse

Wanted: New Fish Out Coordinator

Granite Bay Flycasters is looking for an active club member to take over as the club's Fishmaster/Coordinator. This position is one of the most important posts in GBF. You will be responsible for making sure the Club has at least one monthly Fish Out. This can be accomplished by leading your own Fish Out or by selecting other club members to lead Fish Outs to their favorite waters.

If you are interested in this position or want to learn more, please contact Gary Flanagan at: flanagan@surewest.net. I will send you a publication on how to properly lead a Fish Out. If you would like additional information call me at: (916) 223-4240

After what seemed like hours, my sparring partner slipped alongside our Panga and the fight was over. I could not have been a happier guy. After pictures were snapped we revived, kissed and sent Mister Marlin back to his briny element.

Ron, Nick and I caught Roosterfish over fifty pounds, Nick had a fish on, stripping off over three hundred yards of seventy pound test, before spooling his reel and breaking off. The Captain figured it was a Yellowfin Tuna in excess of two hundred pounds!

Fishing through pods of Dolphin exceeding two hundred animals that were herding Tuna. We also followed a lazy Manta Ray that had a Remora on it's back larger than an adult Salmon. The Manta was only about five feet under the surface and when we glided over the huge beast I realized he was larger than our twenty foot boat!

Next year I hope to have a seven-teen-weight rod and if the fish gods will allow, I plan on having a repeat performance with Mister Marlin. I'd go back in a heartbeat.

Welcome to the Granite Bay Flycasters Message Board

This forum is provided for the use and enjoyment of active GBF club members who wish to exchange messages on any variety of fly fishing and/or club-related subjects. Messages (and boards) might include fly fishing reports, adventure or road inside requests for fishing partners, tackle and technique questions/suggestions, destination reviews/ recommendations, fishing industry news, tackle 'deal' discoveries, general or specific questions directed to the club or individual club members, etc.

Ty it today... start a thread! Messages/topics stemming from any new post by clicking 'Add New Message' below.

Being a family oriented club, this is of course a family oriented message board. Please respect this simple usage guideline regarding message topics, content, and references. If the message would be appropriate for publication in The Leader, then it's probably OK here (no profanity, disparaging remarks, or business solicitations please). Have fun and visit often!
